

Dear all,

Our work here at Youth United is focused on extending the reach of uniformed youth activities in order to achieve our goal that every young person who wishes to do so can be part of a uniformed youth group, regardless of their location or background. It is, then, a particular pleasure to see units established with Youth United support in non-traditional settings or reaching out to young people who would not otherwise have the opportunity to participate. Our first article this month features one such unit – a Girlguiding Hospital Unit in Belfast – and illustrates, if further proof were needed, the invaluable part played by adult volunteers and the enormous contribution they make to improving the lives of young people through their volunteering.

It is my great pleasure to introduce two new staff team members to the Youth United Foundation fold. Tina Williams, who will be helping us deliver key events over the coming months, and Cristina Otelea, who takes up the role of Executive and Communications Assistant, have both joined us in the last month. In the second article in our August 2016 newsletter, you can read a little more about them and the ways in which they will be contributing to Youth United.

You can keep up to date with all our latest stories (including some photos from the wonderful celebration day at RAF Cranwell held earlier this month to mark the 75th Anniversary of the Air Training Corps) and events on our Facebook page.

With very best wishes
